Mapping Monuments

7 March–29 June

Following on from a very successful and well attended conference on Ordnance Survey heritage in November 2023 in Ballykelly, this new travelling exhibition further explores local Ordnance Survey. Looking at traces, sites and stories along the Lough Foyle Baseline, this fascinating exhibition includes surveying objects and artist interpretation.

This exhibition was produced by volunteers from the Mapping Monuments heritage project, the Binevenagh Coastal Lowlands Landscape Partnership Scheme and Queens University Belfast through funding from The National Lottery Heritage Fund.

Threads & Stitches

11 March–15 June

Developed from the Threads and Stitches of our Changing Landscape exhibition and accompanying workshops held in 2023, come along to see the finished textile piece inspired by the Binevenagh landscape and created by workshop attendees alongside Conflict Textiles. Paper bees created by local primary schools who attended schools' workshops will also be on display.

This project was funded by the National Lottery Heritage Fund through CCGHT and the Binevenagh Coastal Lowlands Landscape Partnership Scheme.

➤ "An inspiring exhibition!"

Hannah Smith

13 April-18 May

Exhibition launch | Saturday 13 April, 11am | All welcome | Refreshments provided

A figurative artist based in Belfast, Hannah Smith works predominately in oils exploring performance in everyday life, drawing inspiration from dystopian narratives. Currently creating a new body of work which combines painting and sculptural elements, this exhibition includes older and recent works, documenting a shift in process and practice whilst continuing to focus on the human form in all its varieties. Hannah's work is currently also exhibited at the Saatchi Gallery, London in an exhibition curated by The Delphian Gallery.

➤ "...fantastic work and really insightful."

Concurrent

Sinead McKeever

13 April-18 May

Saturday 13 April, 11am | All welcome | Refreshments provided

Sinead McKeever is a visual artist working in sculpture, painting, photography and installation art. Born in Northern Ireland, she lives and works in Belfast, currently based at Queen Street Studios.

Exploring the relationship between sculpture, painting and drawing in this exhibition, her use of industrial and domestic materials together with traditional pigments are exploited and celebrated. Painted organic constructions are drawn in space, testing different states of stability - artworks that extrude, merge or collapse in the exuberance of saturated colour.

Free Schools Workshop

Thursday 9 May, 11am

Suitable for pupils aged 16-17 yrs

This creative workshop with exhibiting artist Sinead McKeever provides pupils with the opportunity to develop new ways of experimenting with materials, exploring processes and thinking in contemporary art. Using the CONCURRENT exhibition as a starting point, pupils will be encouraged to create original and distinctive artworks.

Please contact our admin team, Sharon or Eve on Tel: 028 7776 0650 for further information or to book.

Birds with No Passports

John Brown

1 June-27 July

Exhibition Launch & Artist Talk |
Saturday 1 June, 3pm | All Welcome |
Refreshments provided

Currently based in Belfast, John Brown is a poet, visual artist, and editor originally from Limavady. As a visual artist John has exhibited for over twenty years throughout Ireland and the UK and has curated exhibitions in the Netherlands and Ireland. Birds with No Passports includes drawings, collage, mixed media works and sculpture from found objects to capture real and imagined birds.

In this new exhibition and accompanying book of poems, John explores the differences between birds and humans ~ how birds and humans differ in dealing with love, death, migration, borders, ecology and how their rituals, rites of passage and language differ. With humour, John punctures the notion that just because humans do not have bird brains and do have language, they are far more intelligent than birds. John asks simple questions that are difficult to answer. Can humans make birdsongs? Can birds speak a language?

The Henry Girls

Friday 14 June | 8pm

Tickets: £20 full, £18 concession

This event is in our auditorium with unreserved tiered seating.

..the purity of the voices and the impeccable musicianship are hard to argue with. – Hot Press

Every now and then, you run across something so uniquely different that you just have to shout it from the mountaintops. The Henry Girls are one of those musical acts that you just want to tell people about – as many as you can. – Music News Nashville

The Henry Girls are sisters Karen, Lorna, and Joleen McLaughlin who hail from Donegal. Formed in 2001, they have recorded six studio albums and a live LP since then. Their upcoming album, A Time to Grow (2024) is a testament to their evolution as artists.

Infused with the rich cultural heritage of their native Donegal but with a transatlantic flavour, their music has been described as ‘full bodied and powerfully dynamic’. They have successfully learned to interweave their traditional roots with contemporary elements, earning them both commercial success and spectacular critical acclaim on both sides of the Atlantic.

This event is in our auditorium with unreserved tiered seating.

It was amazing - I'll always remember this evening and where I was when I first heard The Leap. Audience member, April 2023.

Irish trad band Réalta returns to Limavady after a sold-out show in April 2023. The night will feature The Leap - a 15-minute love song to Limavady co-written by Conor Lamb and Deirdre Galway. Inspired by audience feedback, The Leap is now animated in a Crankie Box, an ancient storytelling form featuring an illustrated scroll which moves as it's 'cranked' inside a box, a bit like a little puppet theatre, crafted by artist Peter Crann. Alongside the premiere of the Crankie and a live performance by poet Anne McMaster, Réalta will showcase their signature mix of lively reels and haunting airs, with guest performers from Jimmy O'Hara, Comhaltas Ceoltóirí Éireann, Roe Valley.

This event is supported by Arts Council of Northern Ireland Rural Engagement Arts Programme.
