REFLECTIONS – A RETROSPECTIVE

John Johnson
9 September – 28 October

EXHIBITION LAUNCH: Please join us on Saturday 9 September at 1pm. All welcome.

TALK ON THE ARTIST: Delivered by Artist Ross Wilson, Saturday 9 September, 12midday. Free but booking is essential.

A selected retrospective exhibition of work by Coleraine born artist John Johnson (1957 – 2019). A self-taught painter with no formal training, John felt compelled by a sense of wonder to record the world around him developing a unique visual style and an original and refreshing approach to 'seeing things'.

His first love was the Causeway Coast, yet he also travelled widely - we are given beautiful glimpses of the South of France, in particular, Saint Paul de Vence. We also catch the stark reality of 'The Troubles' via his riot shield paintings and we are lifted by his mesmerising 'Altnagelvin - Hill of Sparrow Paintings'.

Christmas Craft Market

Saturday 11 November – Thursday 21 December

LAUNCH: Please join us for the market launch on Saturday 11 November from 10am-5pm with festive music and drop-in arts activities for kids. Naturally North Coast and Glens Artisan Market will also be here with hot food treats and even more special gifts.

The best festive market on the North Coast, you'll find the perfect gifts and treats for your loved ones, from pottery and scarves, to stunning jewellery and unique glass homeware, beautiful artwork, candles, artisan food and much more – all handmade with love by local makers and artisans #shoplocalsupportlocal

Northern Lights Sessions

TRÚ

+ support from Ex-Isles

Friday 15 September, 8pm
(Doors 7.30pm)
Tickets: £15 full,
£13 concession (BYOB)

The trú was a trio of poet-musicians in Celtic mythology. Folklore has it that they were gatekeepers to the Otherworld.

It's here where TRÚ draw their inspiration. Michael Mormecha, Zachary Trouton and Dónal Kearney come from different musical backgrounds in post-conflict Northern Ireland.

From their British-Ukrainian, Ulster-Scots and Irish heritage, they have inherited an unusual and fruitful ethos based on respect and exploration.

MUSIC

The trio's collective chemistry is enchanting audiences with powerful storytelling and noteworthy songcraft. These are stories told with a contemporary voice. There is nothing traditional about TRÚ except the songs themselves.

This event takes place in our Auditorium with an unreserved, cabaret-style seating layout.
